PROFILE

I am a keen junior full-stack programmer, working on improving my web development skills for both front-end and back-end. My adventure in software started with a bold career move in late 2022 that drew me into the exciting universe of coding. I have always demonstrated my commitment to constantly learning new things and staying abreast of the latest technology trends. I am currently actively looking for opportunities to work as a skilled professional programmer and enhance my skills in this energetic industry".
